

Helping you give piggies the Comfort,
Care, Companionship that they deserve!

There's a lot of misinformation about guinea pigs out there. Let's set the record straight!
Whether you're a new owner or an experienced fan, knowing the facts helps keep guinea pigs healthy and happy.

FACT Guinea pigs are highly social and need to live in pairs or groups for their emotional wellbeing.

MYTH Guinea pigs only need one friend

FACT Guinea pigs are delicate and need gentle handling and daily care from a responsible adult. They're best suited to family care, not as a child-only pet.

MYTH They're great for young children to look after on their own

Guinea pigs need plenty of space - the minimum recommended is 5ft x 2ft for a pair.

FACT

MYTH Guinea pigs can live in small cages

Too much carrot can be high in sugar, and iceberg lettuce can cause tummy upsets. Opt for leafy greens like romaine, kale, and fresh herbs in moderation.

FACT

MYTH Carrots and iceberg lettuce are great treats

Guinea pigs have unique nutritional needs - they require vitamin C daily and must be fed a diet specifically formulated for guinea pigs, alongside fresh hay and veg.

FACT

MYTH Guinea pigs eat rabbit food

FACT Guinea pigs love to explore! Tunnels, hideouts, chew toys, and scatter feeding all help keep them active and mentally stimulated.

MYTH They don't need much enrichment

Want to learn more?

Visit the GPAW website for more expert advice, downloadable care packs, and campaign materials to support better guinea pig welfare. guineapigalliance.com/

@burgessexcel

Scan here to learn more

GPAW Supports:

